An ever-expanding scene . . .

*Swiftly running currents of college days flow into living memories blended to create a finished product. High above the bounded masses stands a picture of an educated man, the idealized example of humanity.
Emotion and intelligence add the subtle hues necessary for his being.
Alone, he awaits his impending development. A longing for experience can be satisfied through the shadow of a lingering curiosity.
Aiming! Striving! Attaining! The composition is complete.
Sensitivity is achieved; with it life's purpose is born. The human form has now expanded and evolved into the "nouveau" man.*

... extends in all areas

Nature's wisdom has a way of making simple what we try so hard to complicate. The green and tender buds of early spring burst eagerly with the summer's heat, gracefully greeting the advent of autumn. In the brilliant aura of their maturity, they leave the nourishing host of their previous existence. Exciting is the evolution of nature's world in gaining freedom. So too with man.

Development is concentrated in a firm foundation

Emerging into an ever-changing atmosphere, a human's growth has many facets. The anticipation of growing older creates a glowing fantasy for the young. Step by step he grasps each new plateau until he finally blossoms upon the summer of his maturity. In the warmth of a still existent security, he gains the independence necessary for his thrust upon the world of responsibility. Ably fortified, he leaves the host of his previous existence to seek the freedom of his mind.

Augmented through a Man is Nature's favorite child. Bequeathed to him is depth with which his new-found world can grow. He has been molded, aided, formed, and now his turn has come. He invests his power in the changing world about him. He must endeavor to bestow the scope of his era. Expansion, the final answer.

*Daring new ideas may find release in a living atmosphere.
West Chester fulfills the need for vitality with a superior, new building program, one which is designed to develop the whole man—his body, his mind, and his sensitivity.*

superior building process

FACULTY

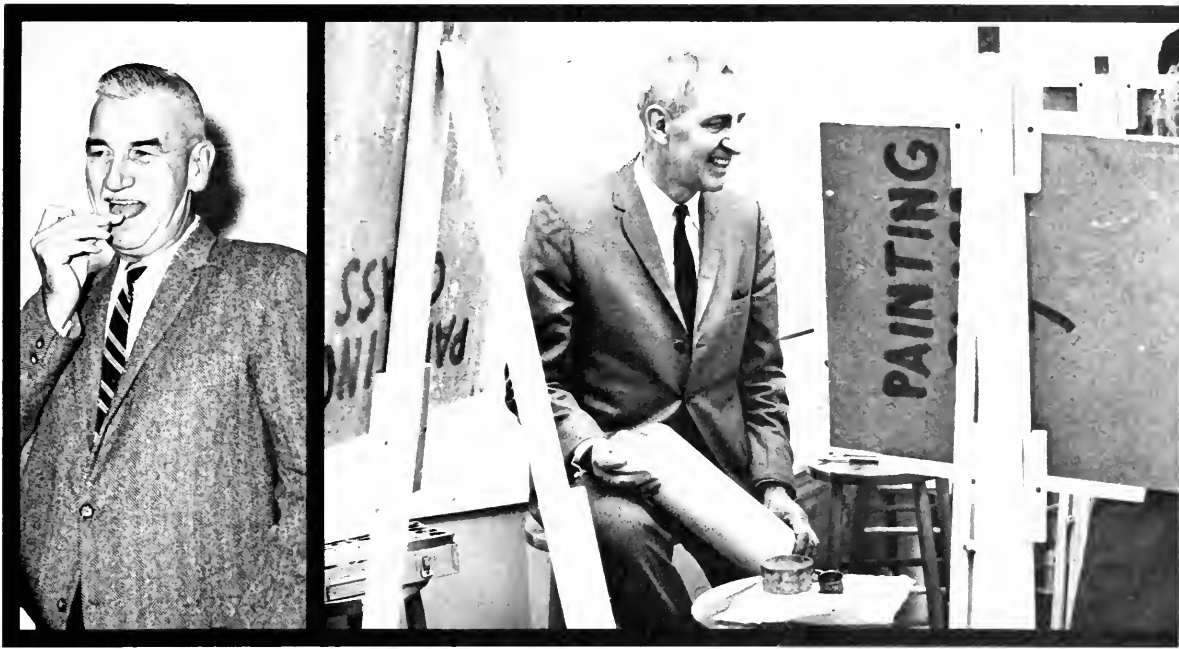

The many building blocks of our enlarging academic society are, of necessity, the students, but this single factor explains only a part. Without the direction and guidance offered by the faculty our unprecedented expansion would not have been a reality.

Educators

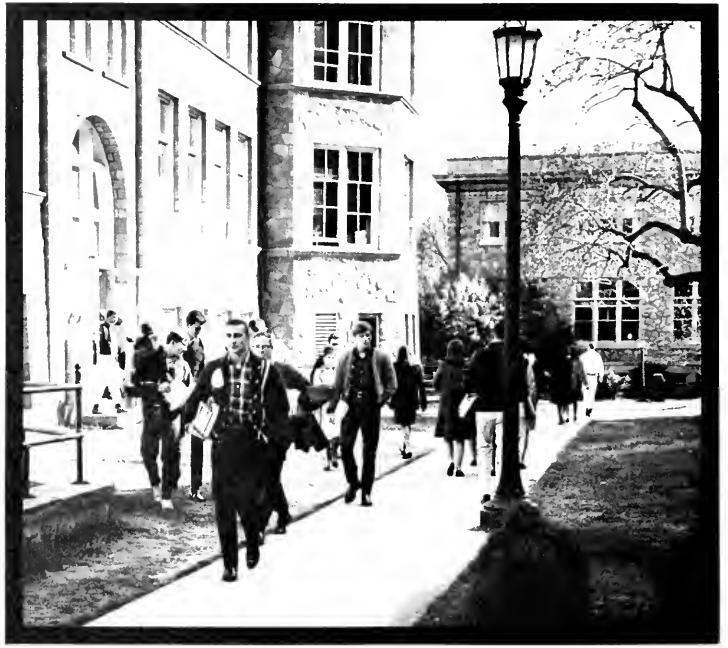

formulate the basic ingredients

The many professors who each day issued us the challenge of new problems or unsolved situations are in great part responsible for the matured nature of our thinking. Just as the student body they guide, the extent of our teaching staff has increased both in number and areas of experience. Our modern world has produced a multiplicity of evolving themes, and only the interest of our faculty has allowed us to keep pace.

Their cognizance and understanding of these unfolding areas has created an awareness of an extending spectrum of valued knowledge. Noting this fact helps greatly in the explanation of both our own and the school's adaptation to a world so intensely affected by great changes and innovations.

necessary for guidance

Symbolic of Dr. Sykes' untiring efforts to enlarge the facilities at West Chester, the new library pictured is becoming a virtual reality.

Following a year as Acting President, Dr. Earl F. Sykes was appointed President of West Chester State College on August 9, 1962. A graduate of Montana State University, Dr. Sykes obtained a B. A. in Social Studies and an M. A. in Educational Administration. Furthering his pursuits in education, Dr. Sykes received his Doctorate in Educational Administration of both public schools and colleges at the Columbia University Teachers College. Dr. Sykes has a wealth of experience in all facets of West Chester State College having been a member of the college's administrative staff for almost twenty years. He is a man most worthy of the high position he holds as Chief Administrator.

As President of the college, Dr. Sykes is frequently called upon to officiate at collegiate activities. Representing the administration at the recent dedication of a cornerstone, he embodies an ever expanding spirit of the campus.

Dr. Widdall, seated, (Dean of Administration), confers with Mr. Lloyd Black (Assistant to the Dean of Administration).

Officiating as Dean of Student Affairs, Dr. Jack A. Owens represents both college and student interests. His capable guidance presides over social, athletic, and governmental associations. He and his competent assistant, Mr. William Benner efficiently excel in their numerous activities.

An expanding graduate and undergraduate program has placed a great responsibility in the hands of Dr. Fletcher, Assistant Dean of Academic Affairs. In addition, he also heads scheduling, the library, and the Demonstration School. Assisting him is Mr. W. Leeds, Assistant Director of Placement.

Recent construction and posted architectural designs are positive evidence of Dr. Kenneth Widdall's outstanding job as Dean of Administrative Affairs. Dr. Widdall and his assistant, Mr. Lloyd Black, have formulated many long range plans designed to meet the needs of our expanding campus.

Pictured from l. to r.: Dr. P. Ross (Director of Admissions) and Mr. R. Studenmund (Supervisor of Student Teaching). The selection and placement both men do is greatly appreciated.

Dr. William Houpt (Director of Public Relations), has the responsibility of keeping our college high in public opinion. His unique diplomacy is an asset to West Chester State.

The athletic program at West Chester under the direction of Mr. Robert Reese provides adequate opportunities for player and spectator. Mr. Reese's supervision is par excellence.

The expanding graduate studies program offered by our college to in-service teachers has met much success under the guidance of Mr. W. Trezise (Director of Graduate Program).

Directing the placement of seniors in student teaching positions, filling job requests, and recommending better positions demanding experience is capably handled by Dr. Mark Evans (Director of Student Teaching and Placement), and his assistants, Dr. Charles Micken and Dr. Edward Twardowski.

Acting as Business Manager, Mr. Everett E. Shaefer, seated, confers with his able assistant Mr. Elliott McNitt about the college financial transactions under their authority.

Under the capable guidance of Dr. Kenneth Slagle (Director of Liberal Arts), the Liberal Arts Program currently offers majors curricula in Humanities, Sciences, and Mathematics.

dean of men

dean of women

Dr. W. Glenn Killinger serves West Chester State College fully as Dean of Men. Having held this position for thirty years, Dr. Killinger is quite adept in guiding the men students residing on campus. Fostering the development of responsibility and character, Dr. Killinger sets a high goal and strives to help the men residents reach it. He has many important duties as Dean of Men and still finds the time to serve the college in another way as the head coach of the baseball team. His co-worker, Assistant Dean of Men, Mr. Robert Mitten is a competent aid.

Dr. Glenn Killinger (Dean of Men) and his competent assistant Mr. Robert Mitten are constantly striving to guide men students in the pathways of high social, moral, and intellectual growth. Their job's well done.

To be a Dean of Women one must possess attributes of a mother, sister, counselor, disciplinarian, and friend. Add to this a sense of humor, and a shoulder to cry on, and the picture is complete. As Dean of Women, Miss Bernice Bernatz does an excellent job of guiding the women students, creating a pleasant atmosphere in their dormitories, and helping them grow socially, morally, and scholastically. Her duties are of a great importance to women residents. Competently aiding Dean Bernatz in her work are Assistant Deans Mrs. Inghram and Mrs. Riddle.

Dean B. Bernatz and her two assistants Mrs. Riddle and Mrs. Inghram take time from the day's important duties to pose for a picture. Their capable guidance and counseling is appreciated by all women students.

The growing student population on the West Chester campus keeps the college nurses, Mrs. Futer and Mrs. Merian, extremely busy providing professional care and treatment for common illnesses that are contracted and minor injuries received. The kindness and care they show is greatly appreciated.

maintenance

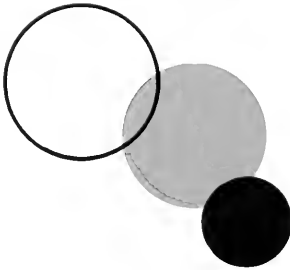

Mr. Clavier (Superintendent of Grounds and Buildings) and his assistant, Mr. Peoples, take time to pose amidst a busy day. Their positions entail the supervision of maintenance, the upkeep of dormitories and the designing of many campus projects. Thanks to them, our campus grounds are well kept.

secretarial staff

The office personnel from Anderson Hall do an outstanding job in keeping the administrative duties in smooth running order. Keeping student files up to date, typing and running off examinations, sending out collegiate literature, and general secretarial work are some of the staff's duties.

Assembled here are secretaries from Swope Hall and Philips Memorial. The former are in charge of music files, records, and instrument assignments, as well as routine office duties. Philips Memorial secretaries facilitate the administrative activities of the college. They issue student paychecks.

Handling the many calls pouring into the college as well as those calls going out is a demanding job. Our operators handle this job well. Pictured l. to r., the college telephone operators' staff includes: Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Harrington, Mrs. E. Pierce (standing), Mrs. Faddis, Mrs. McCullough.

post office

In their new surroundings, Mrs. Rodebough and Mrs. Connell sort and distribute the stacks of long awaited letters, magazines, college bulletins, and those "mysterious" packages from home arriving at the college post office daily. The efficiency of these ladies and their staff is to be commended.

a.r.a. slater

Under the able guidance of Mr. O'Doherty, the A.R.A. Slater Company staff efficiently provides college residents with meals served in a pleasant, gracious atmosphere. Other helpful A.R.A. Slater staff members include, l. to r.: Mr. Moore, Mr. Daly, Mrs. Thomas, Mr. Melackrinos, and Mr. Gebbard.

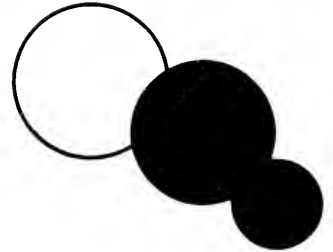

campus police

The Campus Police patrol the college area, check security on all dorms, give aid to anyone injured, assist in those accidents occurring on campus, and conduct our fire drills. Pictured here from l. to r., the patrol includes: Lt. Urbine, Mr. Sheeler (Chief of Security Police), and Mr. Fritz.

book store staff

The expanding College Bookstore is under the capable management and direction of Mr. Jackson, Mr. Reynolds, Miss Finegan, Mrs. Phillips, and Mr. Peterson. Everything from pencils, paper and books, to pins, rings, tie clasps and key chains can be found on the neatly arranged shelves. Sweat shirts, banners, stuffed animals, decals and desk lamps are also sold for the convenience of the students. Jobs are provided in the bookstore for students who need them. These helpers see that things run smoothly and efficiently. The bookstore has become one of the brighter and more interesting spots on the whole expanding West Chester State College campus.

Data Processing is the title given to the department which joins three important offices, the Tabulating Department, the Computer Center, and the Duplicating Office, under one name. Each of these three areas has its own specific functions. Several of the services provided by Data Processing are printing various college bulletins and programs, reproducing tests, and teaching classes concerning computer programming to many interested college students. L. to r.: Dr. Woodlen, Mr. Mahan, Mrs. Wickersham, Miss Jones, Miss Schneider, Miss Strouss, Miss Woods, Mr. Beaton, and Mr. Sgambati.

In 1959 the college began acquiring automated data processing equipment. Recently these facilities have been relocated with a computer installation into a centralized administrative responsibility. This computer facility is being used as a research tool by the Department of Research and Data Processing in experimental institutional activities. The outcome of this work will be used in future college decisions. Shown here from l. to r., the Research Department staff includes: Mr. Ralph Sgambati, Mrs. Muriel Santmyers, Dr. Milton Woodlen, Miss Mary Kay Gimmy, and Mr. Ralph Eisenstadt.

Instructing students in the "finer" things in life, the Art Department strives to enhance our experiences through teaching and application. Exceptional artists in their own right, they present a full, rich understanding to their pupils. Aside from classes in art history, techniques, and movements, the Art Department enriches our perceptions by displaying original works in painting and sculpture. They also import examples of various art movements created by area artists. Superior efforts by this staff have aided greatly in the broadening of courses offered for both majors and non-majors. The Art Department members include, l. to r.: Mr. McKinney, Mr. Hoberg, Mr. Hawthorne, Mrs. Ring, Mr. Defino, Miss Simmendinger, Mr. Hallman (Chairman).

foreign language

It is the aim of the Foreign Languages Department to fortify language skills, grammar, and pronunciation. Among its varied electives, this department offers proficient instruction in Russian, French, German, Spanish, and Italian. The department consists of, l. to r., 1st row: Mrs. Kuhlman, Dr. Collado, Miss Roseman, 2nd row: Mr. Kuhlneck, Mr. Lombardi, Dr. Rodriguez, Dr. A. Roberts (Chairman), and Mr. Glumac.

The English Department endeavors to give all students a comprehensive understanding of basic literary productions as well as fundamental grammar rules. For the major, many diversified courses are offered. L. to r., 1st row: Mr. Smith, Miss Rowe, Miss Jacobs, Mr. Clokey (Chairman), Dr. Jordan, Mrs. Smith, Dr. Bailey. 2nd row: Miss Manlung, Miss Holman, Mrs. Burton. 3rd row: Mr. Bruehl, Dr. Thomas, Dr. Griffin, Mr. Fling, Mr. Ward, Mr. Henry. 4th row: Mr. Suppan, Mr. Forer, Dr. Kershner, Dr. West. 5th row: Mr. Romanelli, Mr. Landrum, Dr. Binney, Mr. Ford, Mr. Cope, Mr. McKenty, and Mr. McDowell. Not pictured: Dr. Berry, Dr. Slagle, Miss Giles, and Mr. Thurbon.

In the autumn of 1964, old South Campus was closed to us. Ground was broken, and the housing program was begun for an ever extending number of volumes, through the erection of State's new library. It is said that "a true university is a collection of books," and aiming, we gain a desired goal. Staff: l. to r., 1st row: Mr. Desai, Mrs. Matchley, Miss Conbeer (acting head librarian), Mrs. Rivoir. 2nd row: Mrs. Liegler, Mrs. Hampson, Miss Collicot. 3rd row: Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Geisz. 4th row: Mrs. Carmichael, Mr. Leubking, and Mrs. Morgan.

The professors in the Geography Department offer the student at West Chester a wealth of knowledge concerning the geographical factors governing our changing world. The growing number of courses provided has now reached twenty. General courses as well as specialized elective courses delve extensively into the realms of political, economical, and cultural aspects of time past and present. A chance to join the college chapter of national honor society, Gamma Theta Upsilon, is also provided for a select few of highly distinguished majors in this field. Members of the competent staff are, l. to r., 1st row: Dr. Keinard (Chairman), Mr. Bielski, Mr. Thompson, and Mr. Monroe. 2nd row: Mr. Hawthorne, and Dr. Langdon.

mathematics

Hosting a wide variety of subject matter, the Mathematics Department is fully qualified to extend its experience to the undergraduates. Their skill in bestowing acquired information is gratefully asserted by their well-trained students. Our Department of Mathematics includes these following teachers. L. to r., 1st row: Dr. Filano (Chairman), Mrs. Stanley, Mrs. Fisher, 2nd row: Mr. Wiemer, Mr. Cohoes, and Mr. Mumshower, 3rd row: Mr. Branton, Mr. Milliman, and Mr. Montemuro, 4th row: Mr. Mendlebaum, and Mr. Weiss.

With the final completion of the Samuel C. Schmucker Science Center, the Science Department has been able to extend to students a fuller body of knowledge through increased facilities. Large laboratories, well arranged classrooms, and spacious lecture halls provide the department with the necessary equipment for experiments. L. to r., 1st row: Mr. Buchler, Dr. Overlees, Mr. McDonnell, Dr. Bravo, Mrs. Bliss, Miss Cullen, Miss Greenwood, Dr. Greenberg, Dr. R. Rickert (Chairman), 2nd row: Mr. Hawkes, Dr. Muchmann, Mr. Casciato, Dr. Dorchester, Mr. Bernhardt, Mr. Skillen, Mrs. Chang, Dr. Ashkenaz, Mrs. Schoel, 3rd row: Mr. Jacobson, Dr. Reynolds, Mr. Jones, Mr. Melucci, Dr. Townsley, and Mr. Smith.

"Music makes the world go 'round" whether it be a popular song of the day, a jazz rendition, or a classic orchestral piece. West Chester is proud to boast of a superior Music Department that provides courses designed to acquaint students with theory, appreciation, and a background in music as well as current methods used in teaching. Instrumental and vocal instruction is also provided for those majoring in the field. Extra activities such as faculty recitals and concerts create a true harmonious atmosphere on our campus.

Distinguished members of our music staff are, l. to r., 1st row: Mrs. Gottlieb, Dr. Schiek, Miss Hales, Miss Sheppard, Miss Vandever, and Dr. L. Mitchell (Chairman), Mrs. Kelly, Miss Williams, Dr. Antonovich, and Mr. Barrow. 2nd row: Mr. Carson, Mr. Gangemi, Miss Clarke, Dr. Wright, Mr. Middleton, Mr. Krueger, Mr. Carl, Mr. Whitten, Dr. Johns, and Dr. Wilkinson. 3rd row: Mr. Read, Dr. Veleta, Mr. Zimmerman, Mr. Sweet, Mr. Pflieger, Mr. Conaway, Dr. Parris, Dr. Cheesman, Messrs. Breuninger, Markow, Brown, and Boerlin.

Formation of new departments on campus is still further evidence of our broadened horizons. Dr. Williams has been placed in charge of the Guidance and Counseling Department. His great understanding of college students is an asset for those of us who need helpful suggestions and capable advice.

Expansion is witnessed in all facets of our college. A presage of coming major fields is a new Philosophy Department offering courses designed to introduce, analyze, and develop philosophical thought and reasoning. Staff l. to r.: Mr. Banyaceski, Dr. Claghorn (Chairman).

physical education

A sound body and a sound mind form a truly wholesome individual. The untiring efforts of the Health and Physical Education Department are directed at creating such individuals. Courses combining theory and practice, responsibility and attitudes, philosophy and principles are offered to majors with the aim of producing dynamic competent teachers. The staff's enthusiasm furthers and fulfills these goals. Members of the faculty are, l. to r., 1st row: Dr. Sturzebecker (Chairman), Miss Gros, Mrs. Taylor, and Miss Schaub.

Miss Coates, Miss Powlus, Mrs. Guinta, Mrs. Y. Wong (Graduate Assistant), Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Greenwood, Mr. Black. 2nd row: Miss Yanisch, Mr. Kolacki, Mr. Truka, Mrs. Bokus, Mrs. Cottrell, Miss Reed, Miss Kyvallos. 3rd row: Mr. Heim, Mr. Yoder, Mr. Steinmetz, Mr. Goodwin, Dr. Twardowski. 4th row: Mr. Wilkinson, Mr. Emig (Graduate Assistant), Dr. Cochran, Mr. Long, Mr. Mitten, Mr. Davis, and Mr. Donley. 5th row: Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Furlow, Dr. Youmans, Mr. Schmitt, Mr. Lemcke. Missing: Dr. Cottrell, Mr. Reese, Mr. Lorback.

ORGANIZATIONS

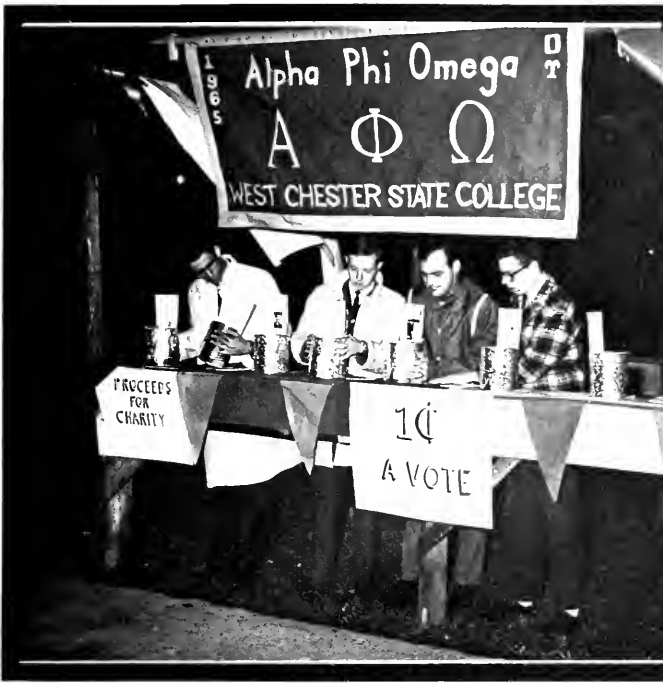

Politics, Religion, Athletics, and the Arts are but few of the diverse fields which have aroused the curiosity of our generation. Often these interests were spontaneous, but with encouragement from our collegiate organizations they have continued and grown.

Recognition

has been achieved . . .

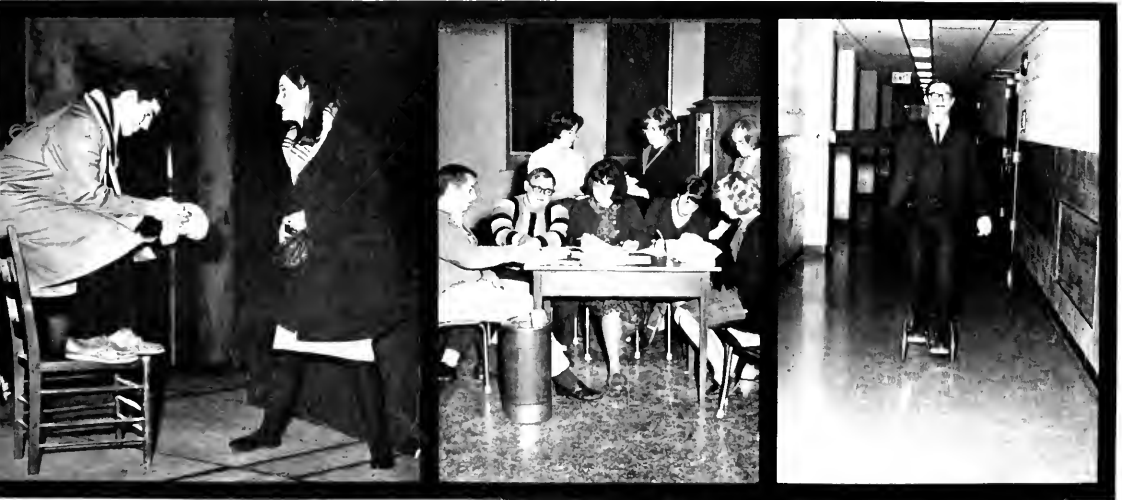

During our four college years both administrator and student alike have tried to coordinate our enlarging faculty and facilities with the increased clamour for interest activities. The effort has met with great success, and we have witnessed the growth of an extra curricular program designed to give both the opportunity and the means to each student to realize his own particular emerging interests and abilities.

A widening scope of recent organizations has been matched by renewed action and ever extensive growth within the previously established groups. This twofold energy of both the old and the new is a prime factor in explaining our student body's knowledge of the nonacademic facets of society.

Business Manager E. McGee competently handles the business aspect of producing a yearbook. She receives help from M. Krause and C. Manns.

Senior Section Co-editors, Jim Schmidt and Ann Purcell, along with Nancy Zosh scheduled senior pictures and compiled the class directory.

A staff can operate efficiently only through a strong leader, and Editor-in-chief Sally Jean Campbell has exhibited ability in managing staff problems along with Mr. Landrum, faculty advisor, and Bill Ritter, Associate Editor.

Cover design and page lay-outs as well as artistic advice were supplied by Art Editor R. Schreiner, M. Galligan, and D. Grove.

Through the use of "Expansion" as the encompassing theme of this yearbook, the Serpentine staff has endeavored to portray the integral growth patterns of both the students and the college. It is clearly evident that the tremendous development commenced within the past four years will be a vivid phase of our lives. It is our hope that this book will provide the student with an excellent pictorial account to act as a tribute to prominent college memories.

The yearbook Literary staff includes, l. to r., seated, F. Smaltz, M. Downes, Mary Youngblood and C. Moore (Co-editors), G. Meyer, Standing, C. Carson, C. Frikor, G. O'Hara, M. Morgan, S. Burns, M. McKeuzie. Through diligent cooperation, this efficient staff endeavored to publish the very best for the 1966 Serpentine.

The typing of copy, heads, captions, and senior directory was efficiently completed by the Typing staff; S. McCarthy, C. Patchell (Editor), E. Gilmore, R. Buckman, M. Windolph, D. Mackey. Missing: S. Gorrie.

Sports Co-editors, Rich Gilbert and Doris Glass were aided greatly in their work by D. Kellon, K. Walsh, P. Strub, D. Williamson. This staff cooperated in compiling and identifying pictures of sports events.

Organizations, Activities, and Underclassmen sections were compiled and edited through the work of B. Kochan, A. Terracciano, E. Overstreet (Editor), L. Young, B. Meitz, and D. Huxett. The staff efficiently handled a great amount of work and were able to perform the job quickly and smoothly.

If it were not for the proficient and dedicated work of Dr. Berry, Mr. Thurbon and their able staff, Quad Angles would not bring the student body the reading pleasure which it does. Quad Angles provides interesting and amusing information on sport scoops, administrative news, and other campus activities. Indeed, the newspaper shapes student life.

To keep this college informed of important events and news, the efforts of many individuals are required. Here, checking their final copy, are B. Harvey, T. Rodden, (Editor), D. Worrell, and R. Heebner. These four make up the editorial staff and with the help from other staff members, they give the campus a fine newspaper, Quad Angles.

The Quad Angles staff works long and hard to give the college a newspaper which can be rated among the finest. The staff is l. to r., 1st row: J. DeSanto, C. Shun, S. Craig, T. Rodden (Editor), l. to r., 2nd row: I. Steedman, R. Grahm, R. Bagus, W. Harvey, R. Powers, B. Chersy, S. Worrell, R. Powers, O. Williams, and C. Eldredge.

Engrossed? The Quad Angles does that to people who in every obscure campus corner are seen behind a page of news on Quad day.

Editor-in-Chief Terry Rodden and staff members Doris Worrell, Joe Lotper and Bob Powers confer around the layout table in the Quad Angles' Lawrence Hall office. In this office much of the paper's writing and proofreading is done.

Under the capable guidance of editor Victoria Waller, the Literary Quad magazine yields some of the finest written material produced by West Chester students. In the publication are found original poems, plays, and short stories composed by student authors. As creative expression is one of the vital earmarks of intellectuality, the Literary Quad deserves a hand for its role in attempting to achieve a growth of mental sensitivity. It offers all members of the student body a chance to share their creative thoughts through open expression.

Vickie Waller, as the editor of the 1966 Literary Quad, is responsible for compiling the material which is to be put into West Chester's literary magazine this year.

sports information

West Chester State College has made a name in athletics in its history. The publications of Sports Information has kept the student body well informed in all college sports events.

West Chester students keep well informed in all collegiate athletic events through the untiring efforts of Ted Racz and Stu Schwartz in their sports publications.

The college Handbook is a useful guide for Freshmen and upperclassmen alike. It serves as a reference in all phases of life on the West Chester campus. This informative publication, written under the auspices of Tommye Lynn Mallory, contains library hours, meal times, faculty members' names, as well as statutes and policies governing the student body. The college Handbook proves to be a great asset and able guide in answering pertinent questions frequently raised.

The combination of Vickie Waller's and Tommye Lynn Mallory's untiring efforts have created a student handbook that has acted as a source of information for Freshmen.

The small chamber group known as the Woodwind Ensemble is made up of five select musicians from the college Sinfonietta. The talented members play difficult compositions from a repertoire of Baroque, Classical, and Contemporary music. Shown here from l. to r.: Elizabeth Brosius, flutist; Rosemarie Morochko, clarinetist; Thomas Appert, French hornist; Linda Edwards, bassoonist; and David Corson, oboist.

▽ The Brass Ensemble is made up of approximately twenty-five of the finest and highly specialized instrumentalists of the school. Under the devoted leadership of Mr. Middleton, the elite group of precision musicians spends arduous hours of practice in preparation for high quality performances.

During this year, the first that the Criterions have worked as a "lab" band, the group of young and excellent instrumentalists have experimented with arrangements composed by members of the group in addition to working with a large block of jazz numbers done by professionals. With glowing success, last year the Crites placed first in their category and topped all divisions at the Villanova Intercollegiate Jazz Festival. The Crites exalted their reputation as they traveled on to the Notre Dame Jazz Festival where they competed against Indiana University, Illinois University and Northwestern University in the finals. Pushing always higher, the Criterions will deserve the praise and credit awarded them by a proud West Chester State.

The "sounds of music" will evolve from the session at hand.

Jeff Stoudt, Crites trumpeter, practices the Al Hirt sound.

In a convenient clutter of sheet music, the Crites rehearse.

Chosen to represent West Chester State at Villanova's Jazz Festival each spring, the members of the Criterions are: l. to r., 1st row: J. Sullivan (Leader), C. Blum, L. Mauro, G.

"Music by the Statesmen" brings to mind pleasant memories of soft lights, music, and dancing the hours away. Playing for many social functions, the Statesmen have met success.

Adding to the festive atmosphere of the Junior Ring Dance, Statesman Bob Hinkle performs an entertaining monologue, to the delight of a captivated ring-clad audience of Juniors.

The Statesmen perform at the various social functions on campus. This popular and talented group expose interested students to dance band style music. Under the leadership of Mick Cochran the band plays for important dances and informal mixers during the year. Long practice sessions, extra effort, and a lot of spirit help the Statesmen obtain the best possible results. The versatility of this group is seen in the music chosen; this music may be either lively and spirited or soft and romantic. The Statesmen open membership to college students who meet the requirements.

The Statesmen are a much admired and popular dance band on campus. They are always willing and able to perform for college functions. The Statesmen, under the leadership of Mick Cochran, diligently practice to a goal of perfection.

The Marching Band plays an integral part in the Golden Rampage Weekend celebration. The homecoming parade is one of the activities to which it lends its musical talents and its enthusiasm.

Practice is the keynote to the Marching Band. This fine organization, composed entirely of men from all of the curricula on campus, is a highly spirited and successful group.

Standing at attention and always ready for some action is the West Chester State Marching Band whose active members have proved themselves a great asset to the college through their support of college activities. The band is composed of approximately eighty men from all curriculums. They are shown here in Farrell Stadium in block formation. Under the capable direction of Mr. Paul Carson, the band can be seen going through its paces during half-time at home football games. The drum major, Steve Fredericks, is very adept on the field in entertaining the spectators with his skills.

The big bass clarinet booms forth in Concert Band during a practice session geared to prepare for an upcoming concert.

ious high schools and colleges. The band has no string instruments, but the woodwind, brass and percussion sections combine to form beautiful melodies and provide richly warm tones. Members of this active group are chosen by audition.

symphony orchestra

Under the direction of Mr. Middleton (Assistant Professor of Music), the orchestra devotes many hours of painstaking practice to give their continuously superior performances.

Drawing the bow over strings, five members of the bass viol section add mellow tones to the numbers being practiced by the symphony orchestra during the regular weekly rehearsal.

One of the admirable assets to West Chester State College is its symphony orchestra. Membership in this organization is determined by the qualification of a student regardless of his curriculum. Show tunes, marches, and symphonic numbers comprise its wide range of presentations. The orchestra performs at college assemblies and each spring provides the campus with an excellent concert. The focal points each year are the various band festivals held across the state. The highlight is the annual state band festival where carefully selected members represent our fine Music Department.

The Sinfonietta, capably directed by Dr. Constantine Johns, is a group of outstanding members from the Symphony Orchestra whose concerts are enjoyed by the College and community.

Another weekly rehearsal of College Sinfonietta gets under way as the students prepare for their concert. Many hours of practice account for the success of this dedicated group.

college choir

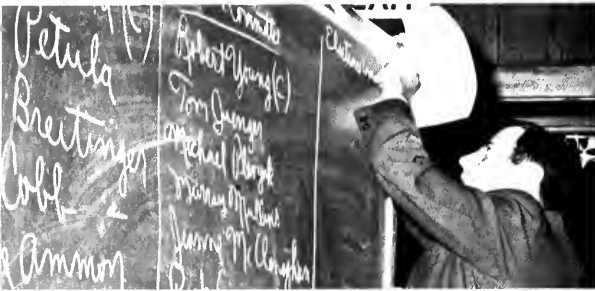

The College Choir is composed of about one hundred juniors and seniors, selected from students enrolled in the music curriculum. Under the capable direction of Miss Williams, the choir performs in several yearly concerts which include the Christmas Carol Service and the annual Spring Concert.

In its second year on the West Chester State College campus, the I. G. A., or Intercollegiate Governmental Association, is continuing to improve upon the firm constitutional framework which was had last year. Under the very capable leadership of Bob Robertson, this governing body has done an effective job in bringing the school administration and the student body closer together. Naturally, Bob could not have done the work without the help of his officers, Vice-President Richard Heller, Secretary Cathy Walsh, and Treasurer Curt Conrad, and his fellow students. There certainly is no other organization which has better promoted the interests of individuals and college organizations during the past year than has I. G. A.

Seated: B. Robertson (Pres.), C. Conrad (Treas.), R. Heller (V. Pres.), and C. Walsh (Sec.) efficiently serve the student body through their high ranking positions in the IGA.

Committees perform vital functions by handling problems and activities. Vice-President R. Heller lists prospective committee members to be approved by the IGA General Assembly.

Every student is represented in the IGA General Assembly through his class, his commuter or residence council, and his representatives-at-large. Seated in the front row, I advisory board

Women's Advisory Board combines Day Council, Dormitory Council, and the Big-Little Sister Committee under one governing unit.

big-little sister

Adjustment to college life is greatly facilitated by the understanding members of the Big-Little Sister Committee. The job they undertake is to introduce new women students to college surroundings and activities. They accomplish their objectives by sponsoring annual picnics and bonfires. Through their efforts, the girls unite all women students by the bonds of fellowship.

Guided by Chairman B. Figlioli and Co-Chairmen M. Wiley and E. Berry, this year's Big-Little Sister Committee has increased both in membership and in enthusiasm for planning activities to make freshman girls feel at home on the West Chester campus.

Freckled, baby-bonneted "little-sisters" await eagerly the annual picnic's baby parade which they will soon present for their big-sisters.

Women's Dorm Council, led by President B. Rudy, Vice-President P. Hillard, and J. Shoemaker, strives to provide our campus women with the best possible living conditions, to voice opinions in the collegiate government, and to act as an intermediary between the Deans and the students.

resident government

The student representatives of the Men's Resident Council and the officers work to establish standards for group living. As do all our governmental organizations, this committee guided by Stuart Schwartz, president, strives to maintain a favorable and profitable atmosphere at West Chester.

The busy commuting girls of Women's Government Organization under the competent leadership of President Shirley Boyko, Vice-President Charlotte Daub, Secretary Linda Caswell, and Treasurer Marjorie Brennen, strive to unite commuter students, resident students, and the administration.

day government

Men's Day Council gives men commuters a voice in the initiation and supervision of college affairs. Striving to unite commuter and resident students, this governmental organization endeavors to achieve this goal by planning combined activities. This council has met with much success.

The Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, under the leadership of N. Hartzel, president, is recognized as a national college organization. The primary aim of the group is to strengthen spiritual life through prayer and Bible study.

The Student Christian Association strives to seek a better understanding of the Christian way of life. This goal is accomplished under the direction of President S. Lehman, as discussions and social activities are offered.

This organization fosters ideals of good sportsmanship and develops leaders.

Student participation in the Student Pennsylvania State Education Association has risen tremendously in the past two years. Under the able direction of James Evans and Polly Weaver, the club has continually shown the exuberance necessary for its superb activity. The objectives of this club are to give a clear insight into teaching as a profession and to stress professional attitudes necessary for a teaching career.

When the school bell rings, West Chester's future elementary teachers will be there to handle the job. A club which strives to uphold the ideals of honor, wisdom, truth, and justice in elementary education is the Neithian Club. Named for the Egyptian goddess of wisdom, Neithian is led by President S. Bair, Vice-Pres. B. Netzel, Sec. N. Spang, Treas. W. Haggenbottom and faculty advisors Dr. King and Dr. Studenmund.

w.c.s.c. radio

A constantly increasing amount of technical facilities enables our college's radio station to broadcast campus, state, national, and world-wide news. WCSC presents diversified fields of music for student enjoyment. Jazz, folk, and Broadway productions add to the entertainment fostered by this organization. The flair of their presentation makes them popular with students. B. Ruch is the able station manager who is responsible for scheduling programs originating in Lawrence Hall.

Bill Adams, staff member of the growing college radio station, is hard at work preparing for the next broadcast. News and views are presented on all topics concerning the school.

Our disc jockey, Dick Grove "spins a platter" on his T.G. L.F. show on college Radio WCSC. The expanding facilities of this station help to bring our campus closer together.

WCSC Radio, the voice of the campus, provides the students with a wide variety of listening pleasure. Capably managed by Butch Ruch, WCSC's station is in its second school year.

Mick Cochran, a most popular WCSC Radio disc jockey, is preparing for an evening of lively music at one of the college mixers. This is another service provided by the WCSC station.

Tradition, a word closely knit within the hub-bub of every college campus, is greatly enhanced at State by the men who call themselves Friars. The service organization aids the college through the provision of two scholarships to State students, as well as aiding the community of West Chester by being active in the Day Care Center. Leadership, ability, friendliness, and scholarship ebb from these, the Friars of State.

alpha sigma phi

Alpha, Beta, Gamma — Women Greeks join our enlarging scene of service organizations because of new college recognition. Alpha Sigma Phi has proved itself to be of great service to the college and community. Its function at the Day Care Center is but one phase of varied charitable contributions. Alphites also offer a scholarship awarded for outstanding cooperation and leadership.

alpha phi omega

Another surge of expansion is noticed here at State through the growth in number of our service fraternities and sororities. One of the newly recognized organizations is the group, Alpha Phi Omega. Although at first opened only to Boy Scouts and former Scouts, the organization now holds membership on a more open basis of merit while it strives to enforce its already high reputation for service and charitable activity.

The Mathematics Club, under the leadership of advisor, Mr. Wiener, and president, Len Fredericks, encourages members to increase their knowledge in this field by supplementing classroom learning with practical mathematic applications.

geography club

The Geography Club, known for its interesting field trips and week-end excursions, is composed of majors and other students interested in their physical surroundings. Members also maintain a tutoring service and weather station.

astronomy -physics

Under the capable guidance of Dr. Rickert, the scientifically-minded students of the Astronomy-Physics Club are given the opportunity to broaden their interest in the field of science. It is their earnest desire to correlate the science curriculum with the club through the presentation and discussion of many interesting projects. Other activities undertaken by the enthusiastic group include trips and lectures.

biology

Established in 1963, the Biology Club exists to serve the interests of majors in this field. Excursions, films, and guest speakers are among the activities this organization has sponsored this year to help expose its members to various aspects of their major field. Under the guidance of their advisor, Mr. Skillen, and President Chuck Douglas, the club has greatly expanded in scope and activity this past year.

Through lectures, films, discussions, and various field trips, the energetic members of the Chemistry Club are given the opportunity to apply the practical aspects of chemistry to modern life. Through challenging experiments, members widen their scope of knowledge. Under the able guidance of their advisor, Dr. Reynolds, new and interesting developments in science are learned and appreciated as members share findings.

The Student Electrical Technical Staff, or SETS, is the backbone of all campus functions. Under the able leadership of Mr. W. Benner, advisor, this vital IGA sponsored organization is in its third successful year. The members perform precision teamwork in arranging and managing lighting, sound, and scenery for all of the social events and programs presented on campus. SETS is truly a vital part of campus life.

ATHLETICS

A hectic pace has been set up by the academic wing of our college, and the athletic branch, not to be out done, has retaliated with its own expanding measures. Everyone is caught up in the growing hubbub of activity as even intramurals gain momentum.

Ever extending athletic prowess is magnified

In the last few years it has become evident that the family of sports at West Chester was growing rapidly and was in rather desperate need of a new home. Construction was started on this project in 1965 to solve this problem. With considerable room to grow on South Campus, West Chester intends to defend her well earned name for sporting achievement, and with fine new facilities and talent she surely will succeed.

Even with a strong foundation, no plan can survive for long by itself; therefore, we at State should consider it fortunate that tremendous support has always been given our athletic program and will continue for future years. With persistent interest, our sports activities must reach a zenith.

Tina Sloan, foreground, grits her teeth as she fights to take the hockey ball from her opponent, Gail Rinehart. This major hockey maneuver is used frequently throughout the game to advance the hockey ball toward the goal line.

Quick moving Gail Rinehart alludes an attempted tackle by Ruth Lafoie as she dribbles the ball downfield. Gail's athletic prowess has proved invaluable to the team effort.

Senior star Marcia Miglio attempts a drive. Her eagerness to do well is evident in her long standing record of fine plays. She will be sadly missed by the hockey club members.

Marcia Miglio, left, saves the ball as she dodges her opponent, Elsie Powers, who attempts to intercept the pass. The ability of both of these girls was an asset to their team.

Elsie Powers and Doris Chilton demonstrate an opening bully while Ruth LaJoie eagerly waits in a ready position to receive the hockey ball and pass it to one of her teammates.

The Women's Hockey team of West Chester State College by using different maneuvers and excellent tactics has earned for the girls a high standing for the season. Under the capable direction of Miss Gros, the team has worked conscientiously in order to gain this position. Graduating seniors Marcia Miglio and Doris Chilton have provided valuable competitive experiences to fellow club members.

West Chester State's first and second string hockey team have performed admirably this year. Seated, l. to r., 1st row: C. Conly, E. Powers, R. LaJoie, P. Pope, P. Oughten, T. Kesting, G. Rinehart, M. Miglio (Capt.), T. Sloan, N. Wood, D. Chilton. 2nd row: Miss Y. Gros (Coach), L. Eberly, J. Shultz, L. Swarts, N. Brasselman, M. Faulkner, J. Walfe, B. Miller, N. Rinehart, K. Snyder. 3rd row: J. Steele, C. Thomas, S. Stetson, J. Jarret, C. McKay, C. Patton, D. Chambers, S. Wyant, and M. Moore. These girls deserve praise for the time and effort they have all contributed for the club.

women's basketball

Miss Kyvallos, Women's Basketball coach, tosses the ball to Carol Rinewalt and Lou Ann Ballinghoff as Jackie McElheny waits.

Long, hard, strenuous practice pays off for the West Chester State Women's Basketball team. Under the direction of Miss L. Kyvallos, the girls have been able to improve their shots, blocking, and team play. Stellar seniors have added their experience to a team well molded by capable hands and have proved themselves helpful assets to this outstanding basketball club and individual members.

Carol McKay uses her agility to the fullest as she "out taps" her fellow team members at a practice session in the Old Gym.

M. Sullivan's excellent swimming record is the result of hours of practice and a love for the sport.

The Women's Swimming team, coached by Miss Margerum, is an integral part of our athletic program. Its long hours of practice have been rewarded with numerous Eastern Intercollegiate Championships. The sincere attitude with which the girls approach the sport is widened by their performance. They are to be commended for a fine job.

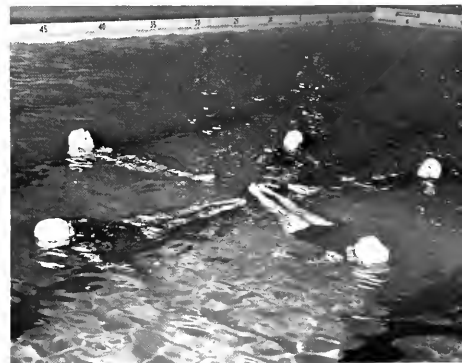

And they're off! Members of the WC Women's Swimming team, Mary Ann Fitz Patrick, Kathy Walsh, Maureen McDermott, and Carol Brown end the grueling relay.

synchronized swimming

The synchronized Swimming Club, under the supervision of Miss K. A. Margerum, has concentrated its efforts toward the performance of Man in the Footsteps of Time. A biannual production, the show exemplifies the advanced aquatic skills of many of the students, and their ability to develop these skills into dazzling routines. The theme of this year's show rests in the history of our world. It opened with a comic cave man diving into the deep; and closed as one took a step beyond the present and confronted the audience with a "way out" presentation of the future. Indeed, it was marvelous.

Woosh! only the feet of swimmer Sue Johnson are visible as she breaks a back float.

Carol Patton of West Chester State strives to defend the College's position against the Shipley School, her rugged opponent.

Firm and waiting, the last defensive player endeavors to protect her goal. Her assignment is to abolish future advancement.

Patty Pope uses the scoop in an attempt to gain possession of an elusive ground ball. The team owes a great deal of its success to the extraordinary devotion and untiring efforts of this junior star. With members of the team, Patty led West Chester to an elite point for the 1965 lacrosse season.

The interesting game of lacrosse is played exceptionally well by West Chester State's Women's Lacrosse team. These players use many technical tactics including clever footwork and skillful use of the crosse. Experience, coordination, and exceptional coaching combine to create a team which has met with much success. Under the guidance of Miss Gros, teamwork has been further developed.

Chris Thomas uses her speed to evade the defending player from Shipley School. Crosse in hand, Chris is an expert in this field. Her willingness and sportsmanship are superb.

The team members are from l. to r.: B. Forwood, C. Markley, B. Yearsley, K. Huston, S. Prizer, M. Cole, M. Gaughn, A. Eshleman, D. Favinger. Under the direction of Miss Yanisch, the 1965 Archery team defeated Cheyney. They met stiff competition from Drexel, Swarthmore, and University of Pennsylvania, but with many returning players the tide will turn.

Dee Williamson expresses intense effort as she stretches to make a well executed forehand return against a hard-pressing opponent. Returns like these enabled WC to have a fine season.

women's tennis

Triumphant! Through untiring team efforts and excellence in individual attainment, West Chester's Women's Varsity Tennis team boasts a perfect record. They attained their pinnacle by overpowering Penn State University's team. A growing number of potential stars has aided greatly in building the tennis team to their elite position. In practicing and on the playing courts, these girls have shown good sportsmanship as well as athletic excellence and have proved themselves able ambassadors for our school. Resourceful endeavors produced by all make this year's record exceptionally commendable.

Barbara Edwards displays the winning form which has led her to an undefeated athletic record in her sport. Accuracy, agility, and achievement are synonymous with this senior.

West Chester State College proudly presents the Women's Softball team. Strong team cohesion combined with the excellent coaching methods of Mrs. Joan Rokus made the 1965 squad one of power and endurance. Only through love of the sport, unselfish giving of oneself, and desire of success can anything be fruitful. The closely knit group of young women has proved all these points and has shown that inner growth can be had through effort.

Sue Little, about to make contact with the ball, swings the bat in the hopes of a home run. The catcher tensely waits to catch the ball if it is missed and the umpire watches closely in order to call the play. Fans in the background prove the wide following of women's baseball on the WCSC campus.

baseball

Safe at first! Glen Worcester legs out an infield hit against Trenton State. His hustle, fine glove work, and good speed paid off as the Rams went on to gain a 7 to 6 victory.

Hurler Bill Standen leads off first base in the 7-6 Trenton State game. Although he was out of action most of the season, when he pitched, his blazing fast ball did a fine job.

Senior Co-captain Bruce Moore gets valuable pointers from seasoned baseball veteran and Rams coach Dr. Killinger. The versatile glove man shared both backstop and first base duties.

L. to r., 1st row: F. Golden, C. Brown, E. Smith, B. Butter-wick, J. Steidle, C. Worcester, D. Faulkner, W. Yeager, B.

 (Capt's.), T. Jackson, A. Traub, W. Mendenhall, T. Deiley.

3rd row: Dr. G. Killinger (Coach), R. Kratz, G. Emerich, C.
 Houp, D. Forney, W. Schemberg, G. Robinson, C. Forster, J.
 Willard, A. Hasson, and Mr. Messikomer (Ass't. Coach). The perennially powerful baseball team from West Chester State expanded its forces and winning record in the 1965 season.

Under the veteran leadership of Dr. Killinger and Mr. Messikomer, the 1965 WCSC baseball team again emerged on top. The season was highlighted by victories against perennial Big Five rivals La Salle and St. Josephs, and an exciting extra inning upset of powerhouse Ithaca College. The batting and pitching of the graduates will be missed sorely in 1966, but the core of a good squad will return.

Everybody hits in the Rams' line-up.
 Here pitcher Bob Emery aids his own cause by sending a line drive single over second into center field.
 The LaSalle catcher prepares for a play at home but, nevertheless, a run scored as WC went on to win 4-0.

track and field

Sophomore Mike Napolitano will, no doubt, be vaulting for the West Chester State pole vault record set by Darryl Lawrence in spring 1965.

Number one shot putter, Dick Maloney, will be aiming for the WC outdoor track record.

With Al Schwinn at the high hurdles, the Rams will be especially strong in this area.

3rd row: Dr. Yoemans (Head Coach), G. Weaver, R. Maloney, J. Rowland, D. Holyeck, J. Thomas, J. Jorgensen, T. East, Mr. Morgan (Ass't. Coach), W. Lutz (Mgr.). Commanding respect from all who attend the meets, the team has expanded greatly in team effort and ability and makes State proud.

The 1964-65 Outdoor Track team had a successful season, compiling a record of seven wins and only two defeats, the University of Pennsylvania and La Salle College. Indoor events were also strong, as the runners, vaulters, throwers, and hurdlers ably handled the keen competition. Since the 1966 Track and Field squads will be composed of many outstanding lettermen, the season shows promise.

Going agilely over the high bar is Gary Weaver, a WC sophomore high jumper. In the first track meet of 1966, with a leap of 6' 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ ", Gary broke the State's high jump record.

Jerry Knatz combined speed, agility, and determination to spark the tennis team to impressive wins in the spring of '65. He is a junior Liberal Arts major.

Here's senior Frank "Bud" Booth showing fellow teammate Jeff Hovis how to "draw" an iron shot. Bud's link success has qualified him as number-one-man.

The success of West Chester's Golf team, ably coached by Dr. Cottrell, is evidenced by their ascending to "top ten" standings in the Pennsylvania State College Conference. Accomplished lettermen, Jeff Hovis, Craig Reynolds and Pat Schubert, gained essential backing from reliable rookies. With untiring practice and team effort they proceeded to gain the drive necessary for decisive wins over PMC, Textile, and Kutztown.

Vital and versatile Jeffery Hovis approaches a ball for a recovery shot—quite a difficult procedure.

men's gymnastics

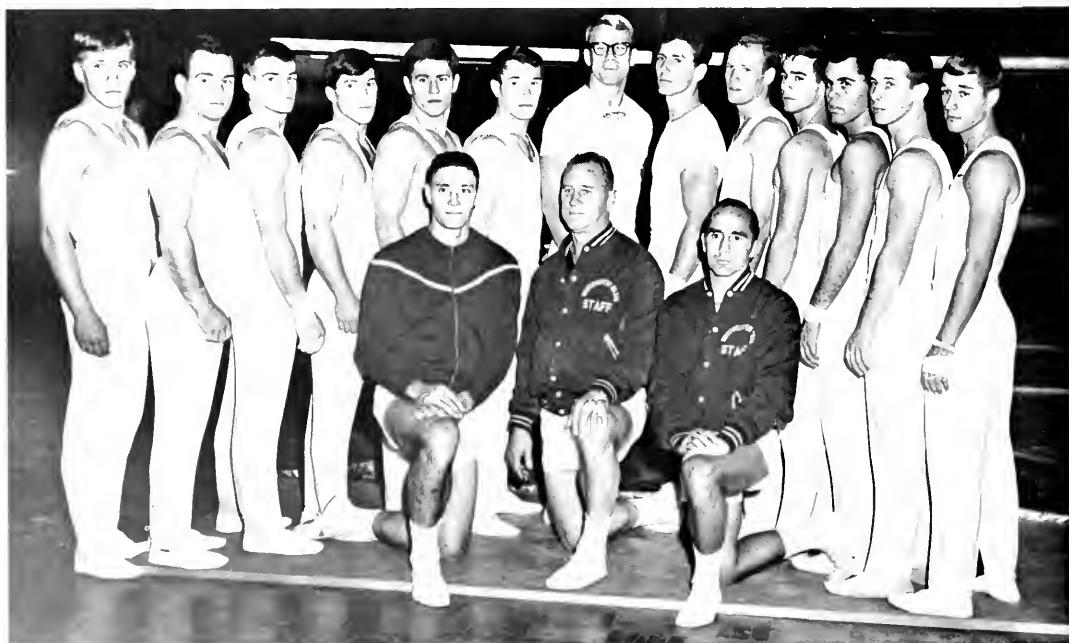

The 1965-66 gymnastics season was expected to be WCSC's best ever due to many returning lettermen to create a well-balanced team. After losing the beginning three meets to aggressive teams on the Ram schedule, the next five games posed less difficulty. There is an increasing interest in gymnastics and the work is on a much higher plane than ever before. A. Davis, completing his 19th year as Head Coach, and his able, experienced assistants E. Kolacki and M. Trnka, feel the season was a success and keep an eye on the future.

Gery Cernickey changes his grip on the high bar to execute the back swing. Form and agility prove this his specialty.

Sophomore Gary Anderson performs a double back somersault on the trampoline. He has many years to perfect his skill.

The 1965-66 West Chester State College Wrestling team had a most successful season. L. to r., 1st row: N. Berlin, J. Hart, D. Yeager, B. Yaeck, M. Dowhower, H. Johnson, D. Smith

Mr. Robert Long, in his first full season as Head Coach of the Ram Wrestling team, is known for success in his sixteen years of association with the sport; the 1965-66 season was no exception. The team started by winning the Townson Tournament. Then it easily defeated the first four opponents in dual meet competition. The Rams did remarkably well against the 1964-65 MAC champs, Temple. With a nucleus of lettermen a successful season was due.

The Rams 130 pound John Hart holds a body ride and arm lock on his CW Post opponent. On the far left is Mike Dowhower who tries loosening up to wrestle in the approaching match.

men's swimming

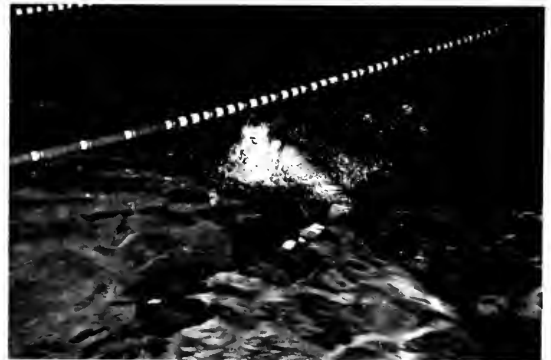

Swimmers, take your mark, Go! As the starter's gun resounds throughout the pool area, West Chester's T. Bory lunges forward for a perfect start and a placing finish.

Team members H. Hiemenz and G. Meyer take time out from the rigors of practice to discuss certain pertinent swimming techniques with fellow active club member J. Scheuchenzuber.

Ed Strychowski puts forth the extra effort needed for producing a final burst of speed. He executes perfect technique in his stroke and combines it with exceptional power.

The West Chester State swimming team boasts of many "ace" swimmers and divers. Their undaunted spirit was a contributing factor to a good yearly record. The men splashed to individual as well as team victories for the season. The 1966 team is composed of the following members Kneeling, l. to r.: W. Doan, D. Lewis, J. Sessoms, T. Bory, E. Strychowski, F. Sinagra, H. Hiemenz. Standing, l. to r.: J. Hay (Mgr.) C. Pagano (Diving Coach), E. Balthaser, J. Scheuchenzuber, F. Noonan, P. Warner, K. Daly, M. Plevyak, J. Sadler, J. Steinmetz (Ass't. Coach), and E. Norris as the able Head Coach.

The predominance of the 1965-66 West Chester State Swimming team was apparent at the outset of the winter season. With decisive early season victories over University of Pennsylvania, Bloomsburg, and Seton Hall, Coach Ed Norris' "mermen" splashed to a winning season highlighted by strong performances in the Middle Atlantic and State College Conference Championships. Senior Co-captains Gustave Myers and Henry Hiemenz provided experience and depth in the sprints and distance events. Records came tumbling in nearly all meets. Sophomore P. Warner lowered the fifty and one hundred yard free style marks, therefore, helping to set a record in the 400 yard freestyle relay team with teammates J. Scheuchenzuber, T. Snyder, K. Daly.

Anchor man J. Sessoms surges forward to complete the fourth lap of a relay race as the third man reaches for the wall which signifies the end of his gruelling fifty-meter swim.

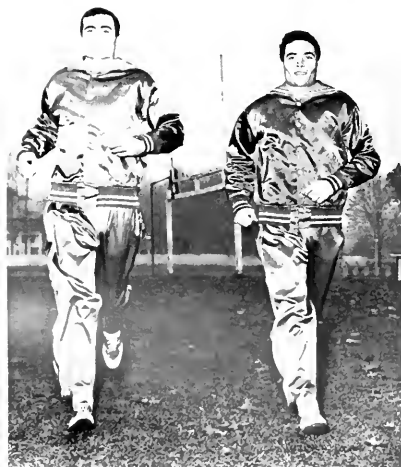

Outstanding team work and individual excellence can't adequately modify the spirit, enthusiasm, and good sportsmanship displayed by West Chester State's Cross Country team. Kneeling, l to r., T. Hollinger, J. Roper, M. Randler, R. Weinstein, F. Luff, H. Rich, B. Wynn. Standing, E. Wright (Mgr.), N. Hartzel (Head Mgr.), J. Campion, T. Ponezka, R. Alley, S. Propert, W. Goad, S. Weinstein, Mr. A. Hawthorne (Coach).

cross country

Coach Art Hawthorne's Ram Harriers ended another winning season this year with an 8-4 record despite heavy personal losses because of injuries during most of the season, including to the versatile coach. The State College Championships, hosted by West Chester this year, were the high point of the season for the varsity team. Led by Mike Randler, who placed first, the Rams captured the team title for the second year in a row. The freshmen, undefeated in dual meet competition, won the IC 4A Championships, another first for State.

The varsity team co-captains, D. Weinstein and M. Randler, jog homeward after a victory for the team.

Coach Hawthorne briefs his runners before a meet. He believes in encouragement for best team efforts.

men's basketball

Even though the State College Conference was dominated by Small College Championship contenders, Cheyney, and the Rams' schedule included Palestra matches with Temple and Drexel, it cannot be denied that the Rams had a good season in 1965-66. With only two seniors and two juniors on the squad, Coach Hopkins gave his sophomores much game experience. Seniors M. Manning and R. Hall helped steady a squad which was shaky at first. Emerging as team equalizer and sharpshooter was Pete Chambers, a sophomore with a patented jump-shot. The future looks favorable to a versatile squad.

Rookie "netsetter" D. Borneman gains possession of a rebound in our game against Millersville. Borneman's great energy and strength will help to form a strong nucleus in future games.

Swish! The 1965-66 West Chester State Basketball team will do it every time. Although their record was not outstanding this year, the team played each and every game wholeheartedly and always displayed good sportsmanship. The 1966 team includes the following kneeling, l. to r.: T. Hopkins (Head Coach), S. Newbaum (Mgr.), J. Heim (Ass't. Coach). Standing, l. to r.: F. Biondo, M. Manning, J. Valore, R. Dundon, A. Foreman, D. Borneman, R. Hall, J. O'Neil, S. Danowitz, H. Buoni, D. Schwartz, P. Chambers, and missing, B. Sikorski. We praise the current Basketball team for a job well done.

Pete Chambers jumps high for an easy two points as teammates wait ready for possible rebound action.

J. Valore leaps above opponents blocking tactics to sink a basket and execute another perfect play. His quick foot-work makes him a valuable team member.

Senior R. Hall possesses unusual agility and quickness for a big man. Here he sinks a bucket in the face of a Glassboro man. Tally two points for Ron.

The West Chester State Soccer team expanded their ability, doing a better job in 1965 as compared with a mediocre record in 1964. The Ram's record of nine wins and three losses was somewhat of a pleasant surprise as the team was composed mainly of underclassmen. The team's only losses went to Baltimore and twice to the 1964 NCAA Champs, Navy. One of the losses to Navy came as the Rams reached the NCAA Eastern Regional playoff. On the other hand, impressive wins came over our tough competitors such as the University of Pittsburgh, East Stroudsburg, and Elizabethtown. The reason for the Ram's fine record is twofold. First, the defense, led by senior Jeff Lowry and a fine sophomore goalie, Barry Sikorski, played its typically strong game. Second, the offense, led by sophomores Hal Holmes and Ron Polley, and junior Bob Lieb, kept great pressure on the opponent's goal. Next year's team promises to be better yet with an undefeated Freshman team moving up to accommodate spots left by the few graduating seniors and with Coach Lorback's emphasis on team effort.

A head ball by West Chester's Larry Eisenhauer sets up the Ram offense deep in Navy territory. Larry, a sophomore left halfback, played an excellent game for the aggressive Rams. Our team was edged out by the Middies who went on to become semi-finalists in the NCAA classic college soccer struggle.

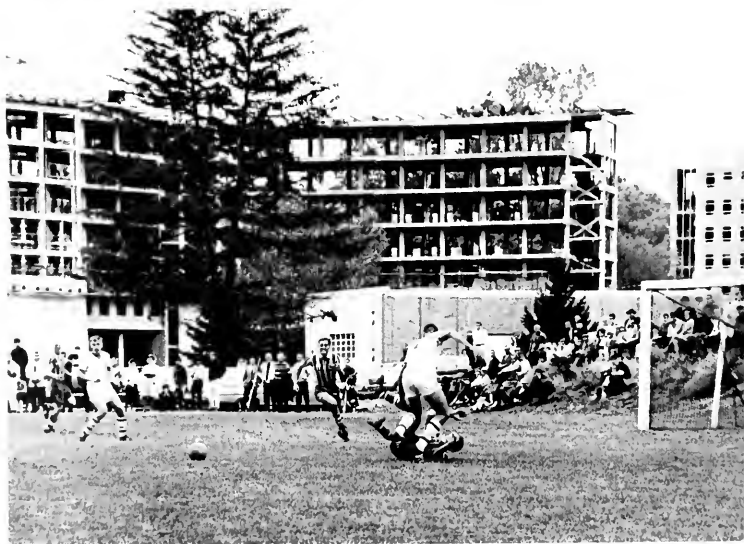

In a game which Navy won over West Chester by the score of 3-2, sophomore left-inside Ron Polley challenges a Navy player for the possession of the ball as teammate Charles Miller, a left-halfback, moves to assist.

Under pressure from his opponents Jon Slusser, senior center forward and captain of the '65 Soccer team, turns, kicks, and clears the ball toward the West Chester goal area.

Hitting off tackle is swift, coordinated Lou Neebe (45). A graduating right halfback, Neebe was second only to Roger Grove in team rushing.

Grueling line action is often missed by a large number of spectators. Grinding out short yardage through the line helped the Rams to overcome Mansfield State College by a score of 27-0. WCSC's team depends greatly upon the accurate blocking technique of its offensive and defensive lines. Their ability has been a big factor in many victories.

Giretti, J. Levine, F. McKonly, J. Poley, C. Sawhill, R. lin, M. Haines, H. Landis, W. Grenfill, E. Reynolds, B. Mulhern, J. Haynie, W. Denton. 5th row: Mellor, Shank, Lewis, Swetkowski, Derrickson, Harr, Grove, Blackburn, Santish.

Dan Ferguson, West Chester State end, whips back to receive a long pass. The Rams complete yet another play to aid them in victory over the Mansfield team.

West Chester State's Football team was unable to defeat a strong, seasoned East Carolina State team in their opening game. E. Reynolds is down on a tackle.

Bill Schwalm, a senior halfback, dives across the Mansfield goal-line for a six point tally for the West Chester score. Bill puts forth the extra effort so necessary to produce points in a game. Added to this, speed and agility formulate a gifted player.

The past season proved to be a rebuilding one for West Chester State's Football team. The Rams were minus 24 lettermen and had only ten returning senior veterans. However, an abundance of sophomores who lacked only game experience showed their talent and drive. After being upset early in the season by strong East Carolina and East Stroudsburg teams, the Rams bounced back to win five of the remaining six games. The team was aided greatly in these victories by veteran players Tom Ostrowski, Lou Neebe, and Hal Bauer. The team's "new look" included rookies Roger Grove, team leader in rushing; Jim Haynie; and Brian Mulhern. The Pennsylvania All-Conference team included Dan Ferguson, and Cal Ritter and John Florence for honorable mention.

John Florence artfully avoids a Kutztown tackler and surges forward on this play. John scored five touchdowns this season and tied for the team lead.

Halfback Roger Grove (43) scrambles to the right in an attempt to break through Villanova defense. The play gained valuable yardage for the Ram's squad.

ACTIVITIES

*A whirlwind of school spirit winds a course through the perpetual current of the academic year while a wave of talent and enthusiasm flows from a widening stream of non-academic events.

Dynamic

talents are developed through

Since the college draws its student body from a variety of backgrounds, the pool of interests which must be served is composed of numerous activities and events to suit many tastes. Each student may discover an activity to his liking and participate in college clubs and organizations. From artistic, cultural endeavors to seasonal events, West Chester State furnishes an array of varied outlets for talented, eager undergraduates.

Extra-curricular events have proved an important part in our educational system for with their aid a well-rounded person is molded. Experience is attained through willing participation, observation, and reflection in various channels of interest that form cultural, intellectual, and social stimulus.

During a gala evening of dancing to the music of the Dorsey Band under the direction of Lee Castle, couples pause by the waterfall. The combination of good music, fast friends, and delightful atmosphere made this evening a most enchanted one. It was an exciting climax for the college Homecoming.

Loyal brothers of the WC Friars society trimmed their float with a little bit of humor. The men look very different when not dressed in their club's traditional navy blue blazers.

Presiding as queen of Rampage festivities, Rosemary Martin received several floral arrangements for her three day reign. She was presented with roses at the dinner.

The Roman senators pictured are not really senators at all; they are representatives of men's Resident Council. They journeyed along Church Street before being judged.

A Sharpless Street off-campus home used "Ramm Yank-ees" as a novel theme for decorations. Featuring a ticket office and live horse, this house was a big attraction.

Dancing couples take a break to listen to the melodious tones of Jimmy Dorsey's orchestra. The dance proved to be most successful and was a very pleasant climax for our Homecoming Weekend.

Form, beauty, rhythm, and design can all be expressed in the form of the dance. The Modern Dance Club, under the direction of Miss Lorraine Powlus, gives male and female students the opportunity to develop self expression, engage in rhythmic training, and learn intricate steps and formations. At their weekly meeting, the members practice exercises and creative techniques.

The Impadas, one of the many dance bands on campus, keep a constant beat and make the dancers "swing."

Listen! Is it the roar of the crowd or the roar of the Pacific? In any case the mood was very delightful.

"Come on! How about some of those famous Hawaiian appetizers?" Even the food showed creative thinking.

Following their brief acquaintance with Hawaiian cuisine, many of the students hated to leave the feast.

picnics

Eating outside and not having to dress up was great, but even at W.C.S.C., Hawaii, no one could escape standing in a long line before getting his dinner.

"camelot"

Even after all of the performances were over, everyone continued to talk about the singing and acting of Mary Jean Overmiller as Guenevere and Richard Gwinn as King Arthur in the 1965 Junior Class play.

The musical capturing of a legendary whim was brought to life through the genius of the Junior Class. "Camelot"—brilliant in talents, exciting in plot, magnificent in color—was certainly a tribute to the organization and thoroughness which typifies the Class of 1966. All the gaiety of courtly life was revived as Arthur, Guenevere, and Launcelot re-enacted the courses which pre-destined their fateful end. The flourish of this play will live forever. King Arthur's command at the play's end aptly forecast the audience reaction, "Don't let it be forgot, that there was once a spot, that was known as Camelot."

Days of hard work and preparation form the strong foundation of one of the most comical scenes for both the audience and the cast, that of King Pellinore (Murray Mullins) with his rotund, furry dog (Peggy Chambers) coming to visit the rather befuddled King Arthur and his court at Camelot.

Morgan le Fay (A. Cornish) and young Modred (D. Rambo) seal the secret pact which eventually will bring destruction to Arthur's dreams. Modred offers Morgan creamy chocolates in order to secure her magical help and further his plans to overthrow the good of Arthur's mystical "Round Table," realm.

The dramatic crowning of Launcelot as a Knight was vividly enacted by Thesbian members of the Junior Class M. Mullins, B. Gwinn, M. Overmiller, J. Gum.

Round Table? No, round circle, and the cast forms one of their own as they take a well deserved break from hot lights and nervous tensions of rehearsals.

stars

The enveloping silence of Philips Memorial Auditorium set an entrancing atmosphere for stellar cellist, Janos Starker. His performance included popular Debussy selections.

Wednesday, October 13, 1965, West Chester State College was privileged to witness an exciting performance of the Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater. Their presentation of the opera "Don Giovanni" was certainly an experience for all those in attendance. The voices of the lead singers were superb.

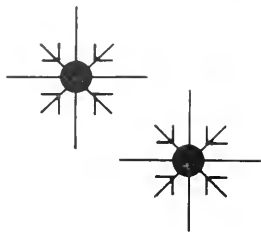

Laura Toledo's Iberian Dance Theater gracefully performed many intricate, authentic dances of Spanish origin. The striking costumes and lively music enhanced the show.

The majestic sounds of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra resounded throughout Philips Memorial Auditorium on February 10. It was under the direction of Mr. Skrowaczewski.

christmas

Every Christmas this familiar face is seen, Santa visited West Chester this year with a bag full of goodies and a heart full of songs for the students.

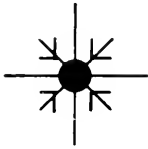

After the Carol Service, Mike Spiro glides his date over the floor of Lawrence Hall.

The enchanting aura of Christmas is highlighted as the Men's Chorus and the Women's Glee Club fill the stage of Philip's Memorial auditorium during the 1965 Service.

"The day that the snows came down . . ." or at least the day after left State's campus in a wonderland of powdery peaks which were needed as forts for anyone passing Men's Dorm.

Vocally gifted co-eds heighten the Christmas spirit through their awe-inspiring, candle-lit performance of many seasonal hymns and carols. The girls await their cue for entrance.

As ever, caroling played a large part in the Christmas festivities of the seniors. Fun 'n frolic shine on the faces of C. Frikor, C. Moore, C. Carson, S. Gregory, B. Brucker.

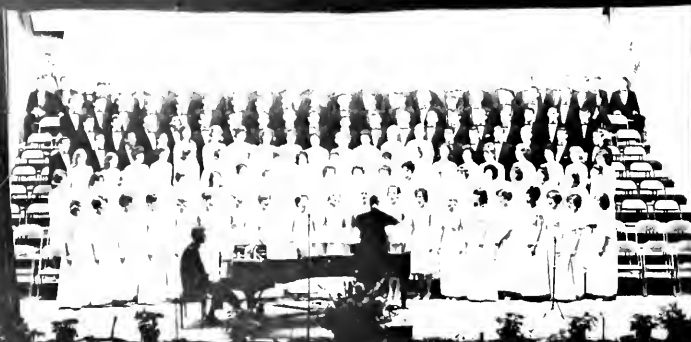

A welcomed break, a friendly word, and a feeling of warmth is generated to enhance the feeling of Christmas happiness as couples pause in dancing to enjoy refreshments and rest.

Illuminated only by soft stage lights, candles, and stars Philips Memorial Auditorium captures a calm spiritual atmosphere as students perform seasonal a cappella selections.

Our photographer captures Carol's air of excited expectancy while she sits among her friends to enjoy the White Supper, an annually excellent Slater meal.

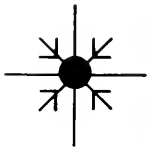

As she "warms up" for her solo in the Christmas program, pert, pretty Carol Kauffman seems to be dreaming of the night ahead of her. Later Carol gave an outstanding presentation of the traditional Christmas carol "O Holy Night" for an intrigued audience who gained feeling and spirit for the Christmas holiday from Carol's performance.

Placing second in the honor vocalist audition entitles the runner-up to sing at the Christmas White Supper. Ursulene Patula performs to the delight of our faculty members and her fellow classmates and gives worthy ending to the pre-Carol Service dinner.

It isn't easy but West Chester co-eds make a noble effort at dancing to the quickened beat of the West Chester Statesmen. Even in long formals and spiked heels the girls show good sportsmanship and help to form the merry spirit that lasted during the night.

lecture series

At 8:15 O'clock on April 28th the audience of faculty, students, and townspeople seated in Philips Memorial Auditorium hushed as the celebrated Sean O'Casey began his memorable and witty talk entitled "Pictures in the Hallway."

Another famous face to appear in Philips Memorial Auditorium was that of Winston Churchill, III. Descendant of the famous Sir Winston, the capable young lecturer spoke worthily concerning "The Changing Face of European Politics."

Thought provoking . . . inquisitive . . . the mind was able to explore its many facets with the help of the renowned Dr. J. Gaither Pratt, our guest lecturer on the evening of February 3rd. His speech led the audience to know the "Frontier Science of the Mind."

On December 7, 1965, the noted author and lecturer, Mark Van Doren, spoke to an enthusiastic student and faculty audience. The lecture, based on concepts toward making the study of poetry come alive was extraordinarily stimulating and valuable to all.

theatre 208

Theatre 208 is produced by the Little Theatre of West Chester State College. In the fall of 1965 the dramatic selections included, The Cave Dwellers and A Phoenix Too Frequent. The group has acquired a "new look" through expanded accommodations, growth in membership, and a talented advisor. Active members must accomplish various technical production requirements to be eligible for membership in the drama fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega.

Theatre 208 presented a striking performance of William Saroyan's, The Cave Dwellers. Ed Pennypacker as the Duke and Joe Gum as the father gave realistic character portrayals.

The aspiring actors and actresses of the Theater 208 acting group of West Chester State College are exemplary of talent, creativity, promise, and extreme ability. Several well known plays are produced and presented by this group for the benefit of their fellow students, faculty, and community, thus providing them with a fine cultural background in the arts. The Little Theater group's interest and love of drama has been an asset to the campus, for as our cultural interest is increased, our appreciation is developed, and our scope is enlarged, we gain a strong and more fulfilled experience.

Barbara Barretta, a Thespian co-ed, portrayed Doto in the play, A Phoenix Too Frequent. The still, pensive attitude of a seasoned veteran shines on her face during a soliloquy.

Student Thespians Helga Krauss, Helen Bernstein, and Christine Reilly converse during a scene of The Cave Dwellers. These able actresses have contributed to club presentations.

Senior Elizabeth Chambers performed worthily as Dynamene. Her wondering gaze conveys her ability to emote varied moods.

Dancing to an excellent band, these couple seem to glide across the dance floor while others enjoy the refreshments.

Senior class members take time out from dancing at the January Cordial held at the General Washington Country Club.

january cordial

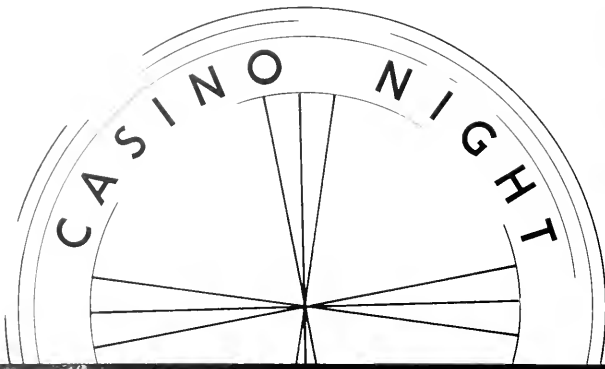

A bit of "comic" relief provided a most memorable night for seniors at the dance in honor of the January graduating class.

We managed to drag the handsomely attired Senior Class Advisors from their Cordial festivities long enough to photograph them. Mr. Mitten, Miss Sheppard, and Dr. Dorchester have been invaluable help to our class.

Seniors dance a little closer as evening wears on; some knowing that this will be their very last undergraduate social event.

Trying their luck against the house at one of the many games of chance are a few all-State big time gamblers who may be richer tomorrow.

Spinning . . . spinning . . . spinning . . . the dice cage gets one last twirl before the hand of Doreen Favinger decides the fates of all her gamblers.

The roulette wheel appeared to be a great hit with some of our more enthusiastic, ardent, and rich gambling friends. This alluring gambling device attracted many onlookers, wary of that first big step.

Casino Night is one of the most anticipated events on campus. The class of 1966, after introducing this form of entertainment three years ago, has continued to sponsor this fun-filled event in subsequent years. Every year, for one evening our college is the most lively spot east of Las Vegas. Roulette wheels, honkytonk piano, card games, cigarette girls, money, prizes, and lots of laughter can be found everywhere. A wheeler and dealer often becomes bankrupt but since only "play" money is used, no one is affected by his loss. Casino Night is one of the many successful innovations which has greatly enhanced campus social life.

Each spin of the wheel is a tense moment at the world famous West Chester State Casino. Here, "wheeler dealer" Carol Ammon watches the spinning wheel. Round and round it goes and where it stops nobody knows, but everyone bets that a chance landing on his number may mean untold wealth.

After an exhausting night of gambling, Ann Lux and Bryce Donley take a short break to count the haul. Unfortunately, neither Ann nor Bryce could cash in their chips for legal tender. What can one expect when fortunes are won or lost at a flip?

Lasting memories are created under dim lights as soft music serenades this co-ed and a special someone.

Following Prom tradition, Rosemary and Ken begin the Queen's Dance to a number played by the Statesmen. As the "spotlight dance" proceeds many couples crowd the dance floor.

Even though the hour is late this couple dances on and will always hold dear a memory-filled evening.

All "spruced up" for an evening on the town, this happy and dapper group seems prepared to enjoy "A Moonlight Serenade," the theme of the Junior Prom.

A high point of the evening was the announcement of our Junior Prom Queen Rosemary Martin. Beautifully attired in black and white, she began her reign as queen as she was crowned by her predecessor, Kathy Russell, who was 1964's sovereign.

intramurals

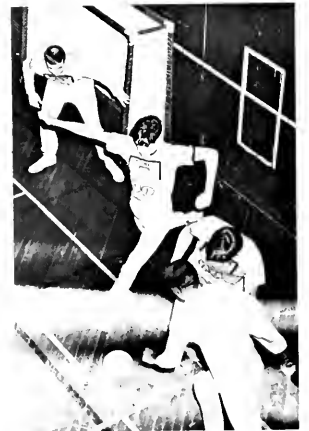

A popular sport, intramural soccer is one in which men of all curricula prove their utmost endurance.

A well-placed, friendly tap to the ankle blocks what might otherwise have been a powerful, scoring boot.

As the action begins in the men's roller hockey game, players ready their sticks to corner the puck.

Teammates rush toward the elusive puck to "drive it home" as the opposing goalie crouches to block it.

The Infirmary may complain, for in a WCSC intramural soccer game seldom does the ball take the beating.

european tour

Faces gleaming happily, suitcases packed, ready to go, students of West Chester State College prepare themselves to take off for the continent. They left from Kennedy Airport in New York for an extended tour throughout approximately seventeen countries. Among the many stopovers were Paris, Rome, London, Heidelberg, and Bonn. Great expectations were fulfilled as students gained cultural and social experiences. The students were also introduced to foreign students with similar interests, visited theaters, art galleries, museums, palaces, and the famous night spot, Casino de Paris.

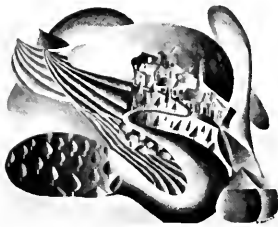

"The Bathers" by Paul Cezanne is a lithograph from his bather's series. The work was presented by Dr. and Mrs. Paul Makler.

An increased appreciation, an enlarged sense of values, and an expanded aesthetic feeling all combine to account for a recent surge of importance placed on art and the possession of works of art. West Chester State College held the formal opening of its permanent art gallery in the Special Education Building in the spring of 1964. Since then the project has mushroomed and even includes a longed for Wyeth painting. A salute is in order for those working for our cultural advancement.

A country scene in abstract, this painting in oils was done by Jan Surrick, a student who had elected a creative painting class.

"Sticks and stones will" . . . serve as the material from which campus sculpture students create artistic works such as the examples pictured here. The contemporary Michaelangelo's sculpt under Mr. Ring.

After months of toil, one of the most cherished possessions in the permanent art collection finally was purchased. A resident of Chadds Ford, Pennsylvania, Andrew Wyeth, the artist of this water color named "The Address Place," sold the work to West Chester shortly after it was painted in 1965.

The campus art show, spring 1965, featured the artistic endeavors of college students and was exhibited on the Field House lawn.

A sculptured creation from Mr. Harry Bertoia's second phase, "Dandelion" is an abstract interpretation in stainless steel.

Another of the later paintings in the permanent art collection is an oil, painted in 1963 by H. T. Hallman named "Cathedral," Showing typical use of figure arrangement of the High Renaissance period is "The Rising of Lazarus" by Salimbene (1568-1613).

Alice in Wonderland? No, only a stylized drawing of a tree showing character. The work, done in pen and ink, is the product of Douglas Davidson, a State student, while he attended a creative art summer class.

UNDERCLASSMEN

*Four years of constant striving does merit for the college student a claim on many of the benefits formed from West Chester's educational progress.
However this claim is not absolute for the benefits will not end with the graduation of any single class.*

Tomorrow is a reflection in the

An all encompassing goal of seniority serves us unceasingly if it clouds to any extent our sight of the many advancements as tools for the entering freshmen and the veteran sophomores and juniors. The members of these classes with able models to follow have availed themselves of many advances and have made it evident that they intend to make prompt and profitable use of them. Their destiny is bound toward success.

As seniors, they survey their career during the beginning decade and are extremely proud of the advancement they have witnessed. But for the graduates of the final half of the decade, with an evolving pattern of its own, the future is one of still further expansion and of deep enrichment.

registration

This Frosh, swamped with signs and directional arrows, and wanting only to get away from it all, is lucky enough to receive valuable, experienced guidance from a friendly junior.

Could it be that these worldly looking young ladies are seniors? Of course, for only they are more confused than anyone when the time arrives for that final registration day.

Within the last four years the registration process has been greatly simplified through the installment of I.B.M. devices. However, don't brag about the tremendous progress to any haggard student who has just finished copying his parent's home address for the twelfth time!

Graduating seniors wait their turn to sign up for long awaited senior picture sittings as the swamped Serpentine staff looks on.

In the beginning only confusion and a little bit of hesitancy marked the dink-clad freshman as he peered at arrows and signs on registration day. However, as the days passed instantaneous friendships were formed, some to last and some to fade, but friendships they were, and they began the cohesion necessary to make a class a really strong body. The class of 1969 is quickly becoming the powerful organization that should, before 1969, make both West Chester State and themselves proud.

class of nineteen sixty-nine

The initial push emanates here

This group of freshmen are given a chance to try a little musical accompaniment as one of their bewildered number sing the frosh song.

By posing for the famous I.D. card "mug shot," this Frosh will be immortalized in plastic and classified as a student at West Chester State.

Smokestacks reaching to the sky . . . crowded avenues of busy construction workers . . . steel . . . brick . . . mortar . . . progress . . . but still, indifference to all the turmoil and confusion rules when love is in the hearts of the very young.

A traditionally agonizing and traditionally freshman experience is that of singing in rain or shine.

Here we see an almost unbelievably rare sight—that of finding an empty chair in the "rec" at lunchtime.

Two minutes until class begins, and it's on the second floor! This harried co-ed now faces another dilemma—that of locating an empty coathook in time.

"Isn't that fella in the madras cap cute?" While waiting in line to finish registration, these freshmen coeds pass time admiring men of the Cap Crew and becoming acquainted.

Yesterday and tomorrow—both are far away to the sophomores as they suspend between the beginning and the end of their college career. The class of 1968 has already begun to make its indelible mark on West Chester State College. The active group has contributed greatly through making possible various social events and academic growth. Pride in itself marks the group as it winds its way to the finish line of its formal undergraduate education, and with real confidence it will progress.

With this environment

Oh, there's nothing like cramming to make one forget easily, and it looks as though one Main Dorm scholar has just about given up trying.

Here lies one formerly nice ski jacket, killed by the impact of a size 12 sneaker. But do not sorrow. It's all part of the price of learning.

A very important part of any class is its officers, for without these imperative persons the entire class would lack the leadership it needs. Filling the ranks of president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer for the class of 1968 are, in order, Michael Plevyck, Nancy Askew, Lillian Della Penna, and Rita Eppheimer. These directors strive to make the Sophomore Class one of value to West Chester.

growth is inevitable

A delight of paper reading in the library is that one need only insert a roll of lightweight film.

As an entertainment for the State student body, the Sophomore Class sponsored the well known popular singing group called the Shirelles. The girls sang the "in" songs of the day to the rapt attention of students in a packed fieldhouse.

West Chester State College's Francis Harvey Green Library is shown as a meeting place of great minds.

Oh, to be back at home pretending that this ridiculous registration and these warmongering juniors never existed! That feeling persisted last year. However, the strong survived and this year freshman regs were more than a little enjoyable.

Juniors

A junior in college—even the name carries with it a special significance. A junior is one who has identified himself; his friendships are concrete; his class has evolved into a powerful body of students; and he still has a year left to enrich his experiences. In many ways he is a member of the class which is in the most advantageous position of the entire four years of college. In another year he will be facing the outside, but now he can sit proudly on the pillow he has sewn for himself.

Stimulated to accentuate all

All the magic of Heidelberg was brought to the campus as happy couples attended the Sophomore Semi-Formal. Music was provided by the Crites.

Frosh Frolics has never had "shapelier" cheerleaders than this enthusiastic squad provided by the Juniors. They will long be remembered.

Members of the Class of 1967 can attest to the fact that Junior Year is a flurry of excitement filled with fun, hard work, and activities that are wide and varied. The success of the many events sponsored by the Junior Class depends largely on the officers. A great job was done by this year's Junior Class Officers. Pictured, they are l. to r.: Patti Pope, Secretary, Kathy McCann, Treasurer, Kathy Bunt, Vice-President, and Lew Neumann, President.

Quite by accident our photographer caught in one shot the greatest concentration of Indian Madras on campus. But why shouldn't the Juniors wear the "glad plaid?" Frosh week is the class of '67's week to shine.

Maybe everybody didn't have the nerve to dress up, but everyone still had a terrific time at the Halloween Party. Here, junior Drue Donofrio and her rather psychotic partner enlarge their "Mischief Night" fun.

Final? Term paper? Whatever the overwhelming task, junior Sandy Volk and Bob Ingham master it.

Yes, there is such an animal as a friendly, helpful, non-harassing Junior someplace on WC's campus.

Juniors become

Even after a gourmet's holiday, a delectable Slater lunch, and even when you're walking with the choicest of partners, the hike back to class isn't always pleasant. Blame can be put on the 14° temperature.

Something tells us that this Cap Crew member hadn't really planned on shaving in the middle of the floor of Hollinger Field House, but he may as well, for it's now the freshman's chance to turn the tide.

A blistering January afternoon shows three co-eds eagerly reaching for a gateway to warmth. The door leads to the new class building, the Science Center.

Oh, what an interesting and truly stimulating lecture! Often a balmy autumn afternoon is really too much for even a scholar. We've heard of "Junioritis" but this is ridiculous.

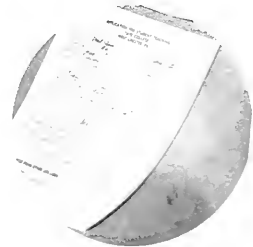

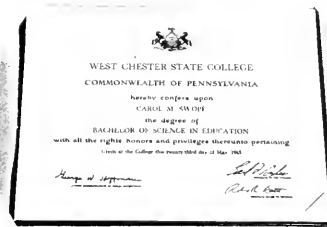

Proud new owners of class rings take a break from dancing to relax in the pleasant atmosphere of a Lawrence Hall dining room which for the evening was turned into a ballroom.

Glasses checked, alarm clock set, and one extremely exhausted junior takes a break from studying for examinations to catch a quick snooze in his third floor Men's Dorm room.

SENIORS

Here, trembling on the brink of self-understanding, the senior fondly recalls the early days which time has swept away. From the first soft and tested step of freshman year, the student has been molded and enlarged to the confident, weatheread being of senior year.

Seniority

... achieved by self-expansion

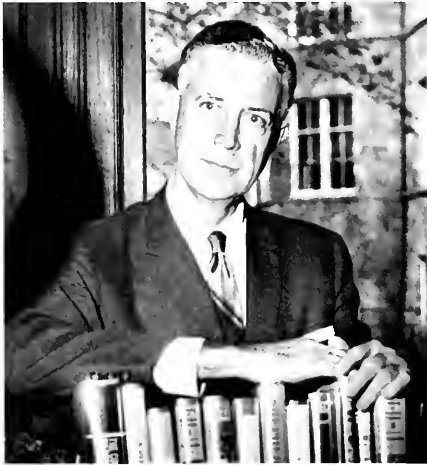

Time has brought the end for some – the end of the security of chums and college hall – and has brought instead one even greater trial, that of fulfilling dreams. The trial period has ended; efforts small and large will prove themselves as the confidence gained by past success makes chins rise a little higher. Time has laid the bed of knowledge; and the coverlet will be woven with a thread of freedom crossed with the twine of maturity.

DR. JAMES B. BONDER

*Gone are the days.
Those that one remembers as Happy, carefree times when one Was sad but only for a while. Here are times when sadness has meaning. It leaves a dullness, a throbbing in the soul. When one remembers fondly and regrets that certain days have passed. But man is merely helpless to the process.*

In Memoriam

MR. JOSEPH K. HALL

*He can no more change the past than hold the ocean tides. Yet, he yearns to alleviate the burning. He strives to forget. He longs to return to the almost forgotten days. The days of freedom from strife. They will never return, these times of utter gladness. Gone forever is this time.
Gone are the days.*

Under the leadership and direction of these class officers, the seniors completed their final college year. T. Juenger (Pres.), S. Klinger (Sec.), M. Mullins (V-Pres.), and F.

Fimiano (Treas.), have made this year a most memorable and enjoyable one for all of the members of the Senior Class.

class officers

Our senior class . . . the rounding out of four experience-filled years . . . the days when good times and good friends mean more than ever before. The class as a group grows in importance and the activities will ingrain themselves into our memories as the most worthwhile and enjoyable events of college days. With the proper organization and aims our final year will latch itself pleasantly to the mind forever. The process of building a class of strength and closeness has not been easy, but the goal has been achieved. For three years class officers have strived to build a cohesive group, one of close knit friendliness. Now that the structure is completed, the final leaders, the class officers of 1966, have been delegated the most difficult responsibility, that of satisfying the creature of strength. Choices and decisions must be made with greater insight, for they will be the last.

The 1966 officers have made the parting year one of treasured and living memories for every member of the senior class.

Who is? They are. They are the outstanding West Chester State students who have been judged most worthy to represent the school nationally in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. A difficult duty for the judges is the choosing of students to be candidates for Who's Who, and this year, as in other years, they were chosen on the basis of scholastic average, involvement in campus activities, and citizenship. All of these basic qualities are necessary for membership, as well as outstanding character and personality traits. These regulations make Who's Who a select representation of well rounded students.

The personification of school spirit is identified in seniors, R. Robertson, S. Klinger, S. Armstrong.

College government leaders elevated to the ranks of Who's Who are T. Juenger, M. Corbin, N. Blagbrough.

Top-rated seniors, B. Carrozza, S. Bair, and K. Mulin innovated many creative ideas at the college.

The students and faculty of West Chester State College offer their congratulations to the fine students who have been chosen to represent the college in Who's Who this year. Among the other commendations gained by the students because of the national honor is a free placement and employment service which will help them to develop the potential that they can achieve. Singular efforts throughout college days have been gained because of hard work and trials and have produced persons of high ethical quality from 775 colleges and universities across the nation. Who's Who, brings recognition to outstanding students.

Seniors, B. Figlioli, M. Mullins, and M. Mackenzie have proved to be a tremendous asset to the class.

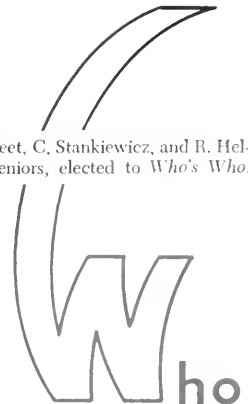

G. Meyer, R. Martin, and C. Bittenbender are well known to class members for their superb cooperation.

Bolstering their class in many activities are these familiar seniors: D. Boorse, F. Fimiano, J. Luff.

C. Conrad, E. Overstreet, C. Stankiewicz, and R. Heller are outstanding seniors, elected to Who's Who.
